Release of Guitar Pro mobile player app for iPhone/iPod touch/iPad

Lille, France - January 17, 2011

Arobas Music's Guitar Pro team is happy to announce the release of their Guitar Pro application of iPhone / iPod and iPad, a mobile version of their famous tablature-editor software package.

In its version 1, Guitar Pro mobile is a player for Guitar Pro files, tens of thousands of which are available on the Internet.

The particular care given to the visual rendition of scores yields a result that is very close to the desktop version. This mobile version is perfectly compatible with the latest, 6th edition of the software package, and integrates its newest features: rhythmic-slash notation, piano grand staff, 4 voices, etc.

The multitrack sound engine based on samples has been designed to remain light while offering the most realistic sound possible.

The interface is warm in design, and remains user-friendly while respecting the Apple standards.

Main features:

- Supporting GP3/4/5/6 (GPX), PTB formats
- Load files from iTunes, wifi, e-mail, web
- Library included, with search, filters, and favorites
- Multi-track playback, with soundboard: volume / solo-mute / soundbank
- Metronome
- Visual countdown
- 3-level zoom
- Virtual guitar or bass fretboard (also for lefties), and keyboard

Exclusive Guitar Pro features:

- On-the-fly adjustable tempo
- On-the-fly global transposing by half-tones
- Tablature (with rhythmics), standard, and SLASH notations
- Send files via e-mail directly from the application
- Loop-playback of any chosen section
- Easy moving around sections

Optimized for iPod Touch, iPhone 3GS, iPhone 4, and iPad, Guitar Pro is launched for €3.99 / $4.99 only. Go to product page for more info.

Guitar Pro is available on the iTunes Store.
